Water Tower Toilets

Please do not use the toilets in the Water Tower before, during, or after sung services in the cathedral unless you are on duty during that service as a member of staff or volunteer. This is because these are the toilets used by the choristers and our duty of safeguarding means that we need to be assured that anyone in the Water Tower has the necessary checks to ensure the safety of all members of the Cathedral Community. We also need to reduce the use of this toilet as there are often bottlenecks in the Water Tower.

The public toilets in the Precincts are available for use at any time during opening hours, and there are also toilets near reception in Cathedral Lodge if the public toilets are for any reason unavailable.

Makers, Rulers and Leaders: Celebrating the Women of Canterbury Cathedral

Our summer theme, Makers, Rulers and Leaders, is a season dedicated to uncovering and celebrating the remarkable women who shaped the Cathedral's past. For more than fourteen centuries, the Cathedral has risen above the city like a great stone chronicle, its towers etched with triumphs, trials, and transformations. Pilgrims, Kings, Archbishops, rebels, poets; all have walked its worn paths. Woven through these grand narratives is a strong resilient thread: the legacy of women whose influence, devotion, creativity, and courage have guided the Cathedral's evolution in ways both subtle and bold. This summer, we invite visitors to step into their stories and discover these figures who helped shape one of England's most iconic sacred spaces.

This year's programme brings focus to three women whose stories reveal the depth and diversity of Canterbury's past - Archbishop Sarah, Queen Bertha and Queen Elizabeth I.
