Friends' Events

The Friends' busy Programme of Events is pausing for a summer break as new events for autumn and winter are being planned. But you might wish to book tickets for two talks in October which are already selling fast! On Tuesday 3 October, Charlotte Cornwell, MEMS (Medieval and Early Modern Studies) researcher at the University of Kent and Vice Chair of the Canterbury Commemoration Society, will talk to Friends about Aphra Behn – Playwright, Poet, and Spy – who was born in Harbledown and became the first professional writer in the English language. The talk will be at 14.30 in the Clagett Auditorium. On Tuesday 10 October, Doreen Rosman, who taught history at the University of Kent, will give a talk on Tudor Canterbury – From Catholic to Protestant at 10.30, again in the Clagett. Tickets for each talk cost £8 for Friends and £10 for non-members, and include tea and coffee on arrival. Call in to The Friends' Office, 11 The Precincts or phone us on 01227 865292, or book online here <https://www.canterbury-cathedral.org/get-involved/become-a-friend/>
